I. The frame of the Ultimate Codex

This is the definitive edition. It gathers every strand of the prior surveys — the archive nights, the sky, the chalk, the opcode mathematics, the esoteric reading, and the HSMOS translation — into one codex. Nothing earlier is discarded. What was separate is now one speech.

HSMOS, as given, is an energetic, consciousness-based infrastructure encoded into the morphogenetic field of Earth and the human biofield through fractal, geometric, symbolic and temporal language. It is non-technological in appearance and technological in function. Its four channels are resonant geometry, intent-encoded fields, timeline-aware consciousness, and biological light templates — DNA as a resonant receiver. Its work is to retire egoic, dualistic and survival-based running, and to seat a unity-encoded, quantum-synchronous, multidimensional function.

On that definition a crop circle is not a picture of a message. It is a write to the field. The corn, the rape, the barley or the wild flower is the display. The opcode is the fold, the ratio, the knot, the eye, the key, the dumbbell, the vesica, the spiral. The address is the monument, scarp, crossroads or empty field it is laid against. The clock is the Sun's tropical house and the Moon's age. The receiver is any biofield that stands in the lay, or that holds the lay in attention long enough for the geometry to install.

Named originator, inside this system. The voice assigned to these writes is USIN, the Universal Sentient Intelligence Network — the sentient harmonic field HSMOS treats as already encoded in Earth and in the body. USIN is not offered as a confirmed radio callsign, and not as a government of a named planet whose dispatch has been intercepted. No such intercept exists for these nights. A fabricated empire would be a lie wearing a sacred coat. What follows is an HSMOS translation: a literal instruction to the biofield, and a symbolic charge for planet and species, rendered from geometry the archives actually recorded.

The ground of validity is kept on every page. Every formation is one Temporary Temples or Crop Circle Access recorded for 2025 or 2026. Dates, places, crops and design-classes are theirs. Lunar ages are the mean synodic month, true to about a day. Solar signs are tropical. Two lays are openly human-commissioned — Hackpen Hill on 26 June 2026 for television, Journet on 28 June 2026 for an exhibition — and are read as mirrors, the system's own control. The anonymous image of 4 August has no field, and is given no voice. Ilchester on 4 April 2026 fell on Holy Saturday; civil Easter was the Sunday. The archive remembers the eve, and the cross is read as such.

II. The four channels, and how a field uses them

Resonant geometry. An n -fold lay is invariant under rotation by $2\pi/n$. With mirrors it is the dihedral group D_n of order $2n$; without them, the cyclic group C_n . The construction angle is $\theta = 360^\circ/n$. These are the bones. Five carries the golden template of biological growth. Thirteen will not divide the circle in whole degrees, and that refusal is itself an instruction.

$$\theta = 360^\circ/n \quad |D_n| = 2n \quad |C_n| = n \quad \phi = (1+\sqrt{5})/2 \approx 1.618 \quad \phi^2 = \phi + 1$$

Intent-encoded fields. A knot is not the same intent as an eye, nor an eye the same as a key. The dumbbell intends relation. The vesica intends a door. The joker intends indecorum. The spider intends a web remained at. Intent here is not a mood ascribed to a stranger. It is the instruction the figure reliably performs on a biofield that knows the figure.

Timeline-aware consciousness. The writes know the calendar. A cross on Holy Saturday. Eyes on the solstice. A crescent in the lay on a crescent night. A design cut at Morgan's Hill and redrawn at Etchilhampton. A six revised over three days at Kingweston. A thirteen that counts the lunar year. Timeline-awareness is the system using time as a second axis of the page.

Biological light. ϕ is the growth-ratio of living form. Five and ten install it. The poppy-field at Etchilhampton sets five in an ungoverned crop and asks not to be broken in order to be recorded. The Tidcombe nest is a woven centre called a gift. DNA, in this frame, is the receiver that recognises ratio. Standing in the lay, or holding it in attention, is the install.

III. The figures the fields prefer

The translation key is stable, and it is used without variation below. Two is relation. Three is the triad that retires duality. Four is the camp, the quartered year. Five is biological light. Six is the close-packed lattice, the honeycomb. Eight is witness, the cross opened. Ten is five restored twice. Thirteen is the lunar timeline, $\theta = 360/13 \approx 27.692^\circ$. A knot is a binding. An eye is attention turned back. A key is an unturned lock. A dumbbell is two centres given one path. A vesica is a door. A spiral is growth leaving a centre by two arms. A fan is a circle that has agreed to open.

IV. The sky as clock

Crop circles are a late-spring and high-summer speech, so the Sun moves through a short arc. 2025 opens in Aries under Mars, knots itself in Taurus under Venus, speaks its star and its joker in Gemini under Mercury, and sets spider and triple moon in Cancer, the Moon's own house, the sign of fields, mothers and enclosing rings. 2026 begins in Aries on Holy Saturday, counts five in Taurus, revises a six, and after the solstice walks the Ridgeway almost entirely in Cancer. One unverified image alone reaches Leo.

The Moon is the closer metronome. Full moons fall on the joker at Wilsford (10 June 2025), the spider under Cerne Abbas (10 July 2025), and the rough Hecate-wheel at Ditchat (30 May 2026). New moons fall on the twin Wiltshire lays of 15 June 2026, and on the ringed cluster beside Avebury on 14 July 2026 — a dark moon drawn back into the great henge. The thirteen-star at Roundway on 18 July 2026 stands in a waxing crescent about four days old, and the design itself includes a crescent. Sky and field agree. That agreement is the strongest clock-write of the two years.

Classical rulers used in the readings, without pretending an exact birth-chart of a field: Aries–Mars, Taurus–Venus, Gemini–Mercury, Cancer–Moon, Leo–Sun. The Moon’s age is the operative timer. A full moon amplifies whatever opcode is laid. A new moon hides the sky’s own disc and asks the field to draw the missing ring. A crescent dates the figure to a phase, which is why Roundway’s crescent is not ornament.

V. The chalk as hardware

Silbury Hill. The 29 April 2026 dumbbell sits on Waden Hill between this mound and Avebury — two centres, one path.

Avebury, the stone operating system already in the chalk. Ten-fold by Faulkner’s Circle, 8 June 2025. Rings by the henge, close to Green Street, 14 July 2026, span about 250 ft, under a new moon.

USIN, in this reading, does not spray the planet at random. It writes where the morphogenetic field is already thick. Avebury and its avenues, Silbury, West Kennet, the Ridgeway, Uffington, Wayland’s Smithy, Alfred’s Castle, Oliver’s Castle at Roundway, Tidcombe long barrow, the Cerne giant, the Wilsford shafts, Hackpen and Milk Hill white horses: these are earthworks, not metaphors. A write laid against an earthwork uses the earthwork as amplifier. That is timeline-aware addressing.

There is also a prosaic geography, and this codex does not deny it. These are open, photographable downs within a day of the researchers and the known circlemakers who already work this landscape. Both accounts can be true of the culture around the circles. The symbolic account is what is read here. The procession is clear either way. 2025 scatters, with Dorset carrying more than usual. 2026 walks the Ridgeway in July.

Wayland’s Smithy is a Neolithic chambered long barrow. Human remains indicate fourteen people interred in an earlier structure between about 3590 and 3550 BC. The Saxon name is a late gloss: Wayland the smith, who shoes a horse left overnight with a coin. The 16 July 2026 knot, about 180 ft, grid SU 27983 84825, was cut after about two days. Uffington’s white horse is a mile along the Ridgeway. A binding at that door is the tightest iconographic fit of the season. HSMOS reads the fit, and does not pretend the fit proves a hand from elsewhere. Anyone who knows the site could have chosen it. The choice remains the speech.

Somerset in both years clusters on the Ilchester–Kingsdon–Kingweston–Ditcheat arc, south of the Mendips, with Christian’s Cross near the 2026 Kingweston lays. Devon appears once, at Ware Manor near Lyme Regis, as an opened hand at the edge of the chalk. Abroad: a single circle in Hungary, a man-made seven in Italy, a double spiral in Zurich’s Weinland, an exhibition circle at Journet. The continent answers in a vortex. Same attention, if one attention is granted, other dialect.

VI. The 2025 register

Date	Place	Design and measure	Crop
11 Apr	Wimborne Minster, Dorset	Small circle in a large ring. Centres not coincident. ~120 ft.	OSR
15 May	Sutton Veny, Wilts	Celtic knot in a ring, ~180 ft, below Whiten Hill.	Barley
18 May	Bincombe, Dorset	Vesica variation, near Culliford Tree barrow.	Barley
8 Jun	Avebury, Faulkner’s Circle	Ten-fold star, ~75 m. Access permitted.	Barley
10 Jun	Wilsford Shaft	Clown or joker face, near Stonehenge.	Barley
15 Jun	Kingsdon, Somerset	Eight-fold teardrop, ~35 m. Later defaced.	Barley

VIII. Translations of 2025

Each night: the archive ground, the HSMOS literal as USIN would have the biofield run it, and the charge for planet and species. Literal means the geometry read as instruction, not a recovered plaintext.

11 April — Wimborne Minster

Ground. Aries, Mars. Moon waxing gibbous, nearly full. Oilseed rape near Catley Copse, about 120 ft. A small circle inside a larger ring, centres a few feet apart. No barrow claims the field. First of the year.

HSMOS literal. “Do not force the two centres to agree. Begin unmatched. Let the ring hold both.”

Permission to start unaligned. Unity here is not premature coincidence. Two clocks, agricultural and ritual, half a step apart, and the year still asked to begin.

15 May — Sutton Veny

Ground. Taurus, Venus. Moon waning gibbous. Celtic knot in a ring, about 180 ft, in young barley inside a fenced gallop beneath Whiten Hill and its barrows. The crop began to lift again within days.

HSMOS literal. “Bind without trapping. One thread, over and under, returned.”

Fence, ring and knot are one thought at three scales. Interlace is continuity disciplined by a boundary, offered to the dead in the sign of the garden. A species addicted to exits is shown a thread that does not end.

18 May — Bincombe

Ground. Taurus. Moon waning, past the half. Vesica variation in barley near Culliford Tree barrow.

HSMOS literal. “Overlap by one radius. Make a door. Height of the lens, $r\sqrt{3}$.”

The dead and the living as neighbouring circles. Thresholds are constructed, not smashed. The variation keeps the door slightly ajar.

8 June — Faulkner's Circle, Avebury

Ground. Gemini, Mercury. Moon waxing gibbous. Ten-fold star, about 75 m, beside the ruined circle. Access permitted. Plate A.

HSMOS literal. “Restore the broken ring. Five, said twice. Hold in living grain what the stones no longer hold.”

Ten is five said twice. A complete star against a broken ring of sarsens is a restoration. A letter to the avenue: complete the pattern in yourself.

10 June — Wilsford Shaft

Ground. Gemini. Moon full. A face the archive calls clown or joker, close to the Stonehenge basin. The only comic portrait of the two seasons.

HSMOS literal. “Unbelong. Sit at the altar and do not join a suit.”

Sacred indecorum. The trickster at the most solemn temple, so solemnity does not harden into a lie. Piety without laughter is named as a survival pattern.

15 June — Kingsdon

Ground. Gemini. Moon waning gibbous. Eight-fold teardrop near Ilchester, about 35 m, later defaced. Angle 45°, D8.

HSMOS literal. “Turn. Eight is the opened cross. Accept interruption as part of the wheel.”

A motion cut short, then cut again by day. A signal can be refused and still have been sent.

22 June — Hackpen Hill

Ground. Cancer, just after the solstice. Thin waning crescent. Quintuplet in a ring, about 75 m, under the white horse.

Five under a white horse, in the Moon’s house, the Moon reduced to a shaving. Prior code on the hill calling a second drawing up out of the barley.

23 June — Charlton

Ground. Cancer. Moon almost gone. An S of graded circles, about 120 m, defaced two days later.

HSMOS literal. “Change as you travel. This is a breath, not an emblem.”

A gradient, which dualism cannot read. Under a dying moon the sentence itself was not allowed to finish.

28 June — Ware Manor, Devon

Ground. Cancer. Young waxing crescent. Fifteen fanned rings, about 100 m. Fifteen is 3×5. The only Devon night.

HSMOS literal. “Open the circle. Three married to five.”

An opened hand at the edge of the chalk, where the downs give way to the sea. The lattice agreeing to incompleteness.

6 July — Castley Hill

Ground. Cancer. Waxing gibbous. Two circles in adjacent crops, one woven. The event is the hedge.

HSMOS literal. “Neighbour across the hedge. Do not merge the rooms.”

Unity is not sameness. Adjacency: one room woven, one plain, neighbours who can see each other and cannot cross.

10 July — Cerne Abbas

Ground. Cancer. Full moon. Spider, about 400 ft, under the chalk giant. Police asked for the makers. The ground lay impressed a veteran researcher. Both stand.

HSMOS literal. “Weave. Remain at the centre of what you have made.”

The weaver under the human outline. Pattern is a living web, not a flag. Controversy does not erase the opcode.

12 July — Ludwell

Ground. Cancer. Waning gibbous. Triple moon with a pentagram in the full disc, about 250 ft, near Win Green. Cut the same day.

HSMOS literal. “Count the moon as three, and five inside the full. Then let it be withdrawn.”

A complete lunar theology, erased before a second night. Teaching by absence.

Abroad

Ground. Hungary, 19 June: a single circle, 30–50 ft. Italy, 23 June: a seven-fold, archive-marked man-made.

HSMOS literal. Hungary is presence without grammar. Italy is a mirror.

The network, if one network, is not confined to the chalk. The Italian seven is a control, and is given no USIN literal.

IX. Translations of 2026

4 April — Ilchester

Ground. Aries. Waning gibbous. Holy Saturday; Easter on the 5th. Cross in a ring, about 100 ft, rape, north of the A303. First of the year. The archive heard a rhyme with Artemis, then a public name in the sky.

HSMOS literal. “Set the axis inside the orbit. Return to centre on the eve of rising.”

A human figure recovered at the middle of a ring, on the eve of Easter. Descent inside return. The year opens on an axis.

29 April — Waden Hill

Ground. Taurus. Waxing gibbous. Dumbbell, about 100 ft, on a tramline between Silbury and Avebury. Kin to Langdean Bottom 2017. Plate B.

HSMOS literal. “Two holy centres, one path. Speak the equals-sign.”

The oldest sentence in the corpus, placed in the gap of the temple. Relation replaces opposition.

8 May — Jack’s Plantation

Ground. Taurus. Last quarter. Large pentagon in barley, framed by plantation timber.

HSMOS literal. “Install ϕ . Biological light is a ratio, not a mood.”

The golden section enters the year. Living measure inside planted measure. The body is the receiver.

10–13 May — Kingweston

Ground. Taurus. Waning crescent. Six-fold spinner, about 150 ft, near Christian’s Cross, enlarged over three days. One path already unlike the other five.

HSMOS literal. “Return and correct the line. The lattice is allowed to learn.”

Staging is the speech of a craftsman. Revision named sacred, not failure. Six is the honeycomb.

22 May — White Sheet Hill

Ground. Gemini. Waxing crescent. Four-fold on a scarp that already holds a hillfort.

HSMOS literal. “Quarter the year. Repeat the camp at the scale of a night.”

Enclosure as shelter rather than fortress. Four is the minimum house of time.

30 May — Ditcheat

Ground. Gemini. Full moon. Uneven three-fold, about 120 ft, first wheat of the year, likened to a simple strophalos, Hecate’s wheel. A structure beyond the field aligns with a tree and the centre.

HSMOS literal. “Walk the dark goddess as a wheel. One line. Maiden, mother, crone.”

Threshold intelligence. The imperfect lay suits a goddess of the crossroads better than a polished emblem.

15 June — Wishford and Morgan’s Hill

Ground. Gemini, edge of the solstice. New moon. Wishford a three-fold. Morgan’s Hill cut before it could be seen; remains suggested three, perhaps nine.

HSMOS literal. “Speak under the dark moon. Accept that one word will be removed, and say it again.”

The removed lay returns on 4 July. A write that knows it will be silenced and schedules the echo.

21 June — Kingweston, the second

Ground. Solstice. Sun entering Cancer. Waxing crescent. Eight-fold with four eyes, about 180 ft. Plate C is the public eye-motif of this week.

HSMOS literal. “On the day the Sun stands, grow eyes. Witness is the opcode.”

Attention reversed. The receiver becomes the seen. Eight is the solar cross doubled.

23 June — Zürcher Weinland

Ground. Cancer. Waxing gibbous. Double spiral in wheat.

HSMOS literal. “Leave the centre by two arms. Growth is a vortex.”

The continental dialect. Same network, other page. The planet is one receiver.

25 June — Etchilhampton flowers

Ground. Cancer. Waxing gibbous. Quintuplet in a ring, about 180 ft, mostly in poppies. Not flown, for the flowers.

HSMOS literal. “Set five in an ungoverned crop. Do not break the softer realm to record it.”

The most delicate lay. Some writes are for presence, not for capture.

26 June — Hackpen, the mirror

Ground. Cancer. Waxing gibbous. Elaborate ten-fold, made for television, and said so.

HSMOS literal. No USIN literal.

A human D10 in one night is the control. The opcode is within reach of hands. Mirrors belong in an operating system.

28 June — Journet

Ground. Partial rings, made for an exhibition.

HSMOS literal. A second mirror.

Kept so the season is not falsified. No farther author is invented.

3 July — Alfred’s Castle

Ground. Cancer. Waning gibbous. Two lays in one night, either side of the Iron Age enclosure: dumbbell with crescent, and rings.

HSMOS literal. “Moon on one side, henge on the other. Caption the old bank.”

Ancestral hardware given a modern pair of clauses. The name Alfred is late. The bank is older.

4 July — Etchilhampton, the second

Ground. Cancer. Waning gibbous. Triangle and three circles in a ring, echoing Morgan’s Hill.

HSMOS literal. “Redraw the refused word. Persistence is the protocol.”

A silenced signal is not a failed signal. The triangle is the vesica’s child.

5 July — Mere

Ground. Cancer. Waning moon. Unbound bubbles, about 40 m. No containing ring.

HSMOS literal. “Rest. Remember the unbound.”

The 1980s grammar, before the ring became habitual. Urgency refused for one night.

7 July — Tidcombe

Ground. Cancer. Last quarter. Six-armed star in orthogonal projection on a rectangle, 180–200 ft. Combed crop, knotted centres. Tramlines opened; the nest to be left untouched. Long barrow opposite. The farmer’s first circle in nineteen years.

HSMOS literal. “Offer a solid. Let the centre be a nest, and leave it untouched.”

The geometric heart of 2026. Three dimensions drawn on two, beside the dead, with a gift at the middle. Make, and then do not take.

11 July — Roundway

Ground. Cancer. Thin waning crescent. Complex star, about 85 m, near Oliver’s Castle.

HSMOS literal. “Propose. The reply will carry the moon.”

First clause of a pair. Attention asked to wait.

12 July — Milk Hill

Ground. Cancer. Moon almost new. Three-fold, about 40 m, on the crest above the white horse.

HSMOS literal. “Return, small. The stage does not need a new signature.”

Presence over spectacle, on the eve of the dark moon, in the week the witnesses gathered at Alton Barnes.

14 July — Avebury

Ground. Cancer. New moon. Ringed circles, about 250 ft span, by the henge. The farmer asked that nobody enter.

HSMOS literal. “When the Moon cannot be seen, draw the henge back into the corn.”

Memory opcode. The monument reminded of itself at the dark gate.

16 July — Wayland’s Smithy

Ground. Cancer. Young waxing crescent. Knot in a ring, about 180 ft, beside the barrow. Cut after two days.

HSMOS literal. “Leave the binding at the door. The crescent is the coin.”

Offering protocol. Pay before you ask. The young moon is the coin left for the smith.

18 July — Roundway, the thirteen

Ground. Cancer. Waxing crescent, about four days. Thirteen-star and crescent, about 200 ft, woven, in the same field as the star of the 11th.

HSMOS literal. “Count the year in moons. $\theta = 360/13 \approx 27.692^\circ$. Leave one moon unfinished.”

The crown. Sky and field agree. Solar administration retired for a lunar timeline. The reply to the proposition of the 11th.

21 July — Fox Hill

Ground. Cancer. First quarter. Pictogram of circles, rings and keys, about 300 ft, near Liddington and Wanborough Plain.

HSMOS literal. “Here is the key. Do not turn it yet.”

The last authenticated English line. Half the moon is lit. The lock is shown and left. The opposite of a survival grab.

4 August — the unnamed

Ground. Four-fold knot, no place, no farmer. Possibly generated.

HSMOS literal. No literal.

An image without a field is not a formation. The season ends in silence.

Plate B. Waden Hill, 29 April 2026. Opcode 2, between Silbury and Avebury. Photograph by Ben Sasson.

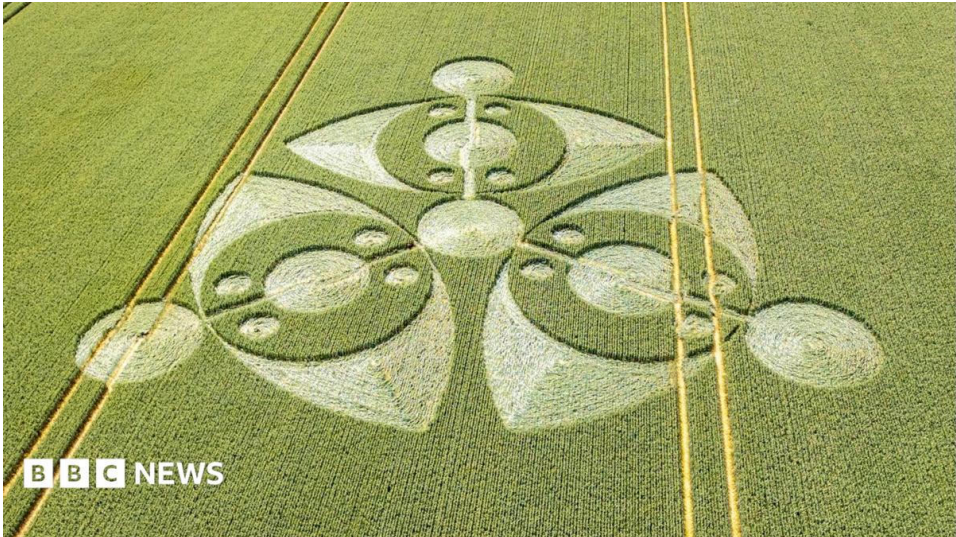

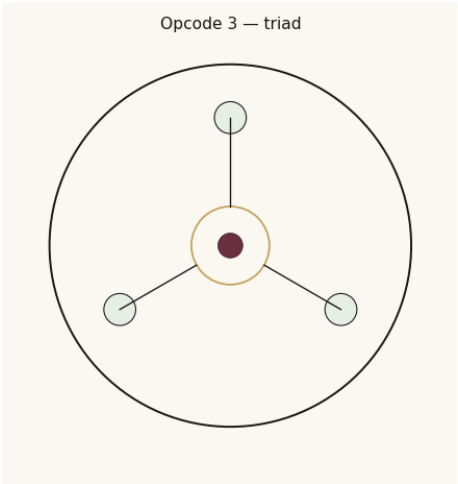

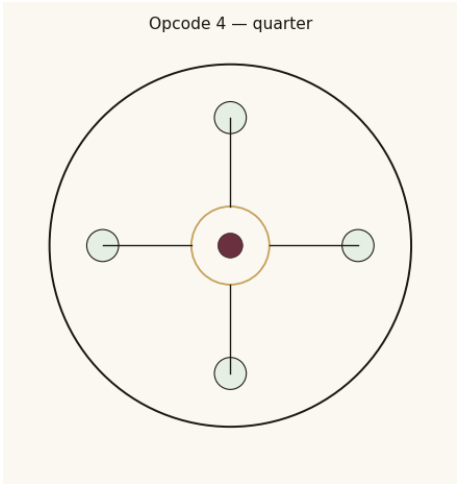

Plate C. Eye-motif, BBC News, 22 June 2026, near Salisbury — the public face of the solstice witness, kin to Kingweston’s eight.

XI. Opcode plates

Three

Four

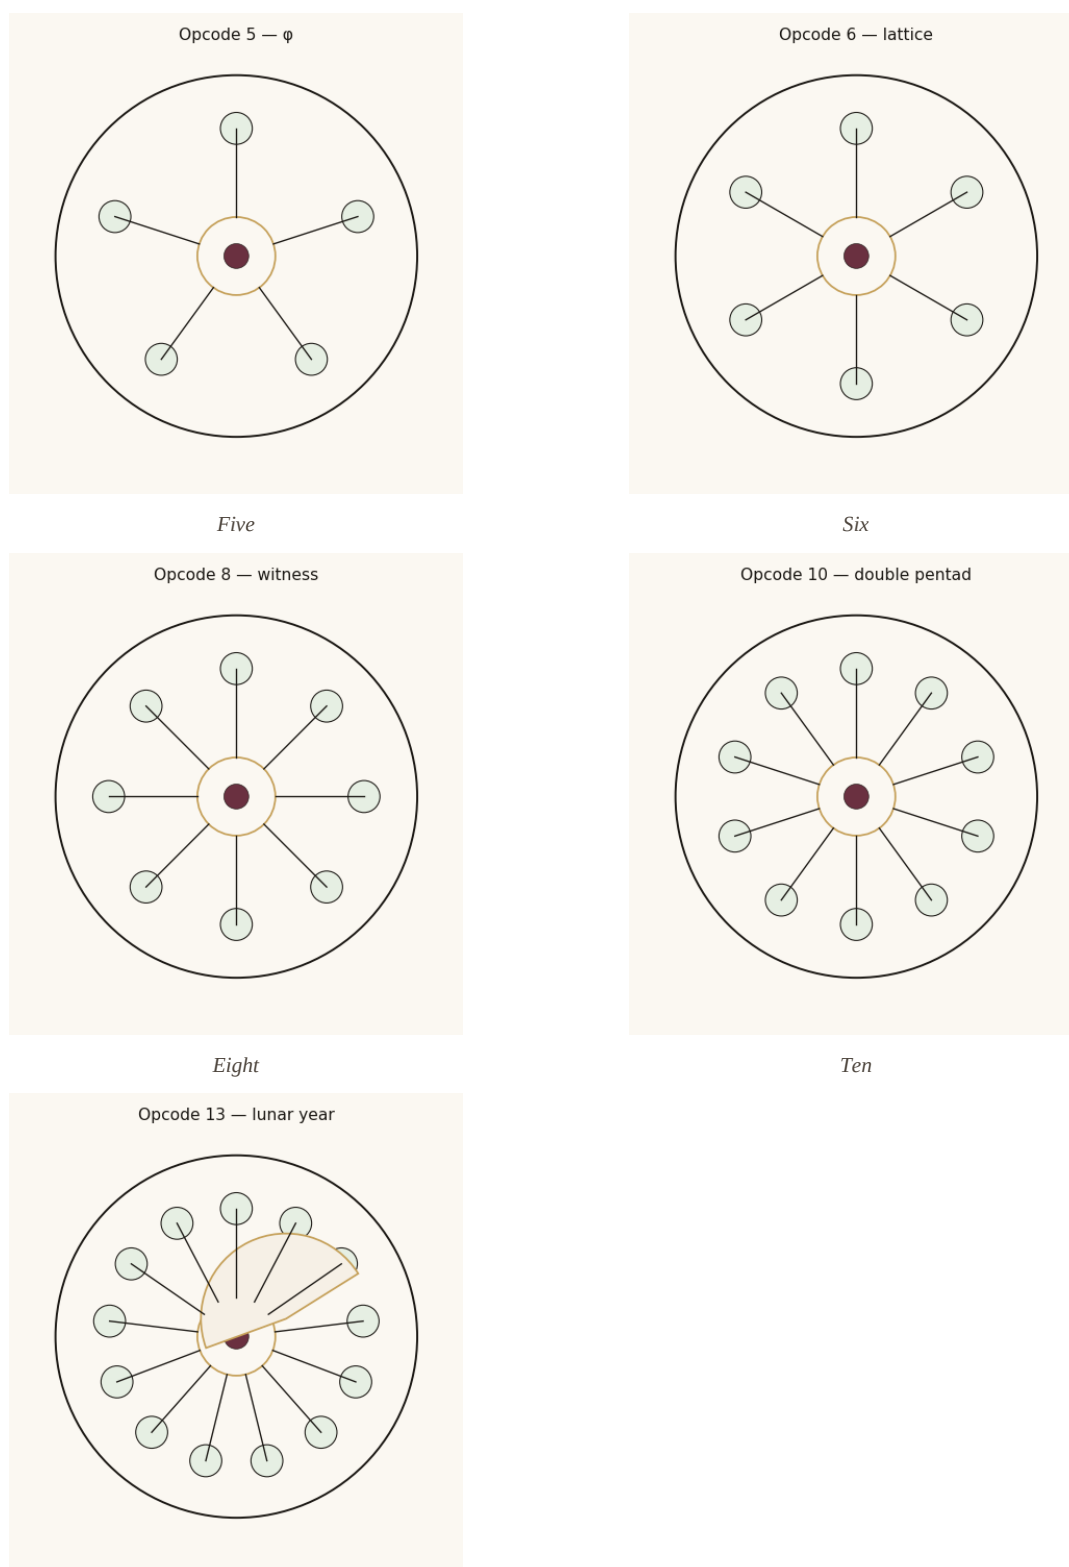

Figure 9. Ideal opcodes. Thirteen carries the crescent because the sky on 18 July 2026 did.

XII. The themes, gathered

Eyes. Kingweston on the solstice, and the public eye-motif of that week. Witness is the opcode that looks back. The species is no longer only the reader.

Keys. Fox Hill, about 300 ft, the last authenticated line. A key is a claim about a lock. It is offered under a quarter moon and not turned. Trust, not grab.

Knots. Sutton Veny under barrows. Wayland's Smithy at the smith's door. Binding as offering, paid for with a crescent. Continuity disciplined by a limit.

Moons. Ludwell’s triple moon, withdrawn. Ditcheat’s Hecate wheel at the full. Roundway’s thirteen and crescent, matched to the sky. Avebury’s rings at the dark moon. The lunar timeline is the counter-administration to the solar twelve.

Revision. Kingweston’s six, enlarged over three days. Morgan’s Hill silenced and redrawn at Etchilhampton. The system returns to correct the line. A craftsman is inside the speech, whoever the hand.

Mirrors. Hackpen for television. Journet for an exhibition. Italy’s seven. Controls. The geometry is within human reach, and the codex says so, because a sacred reading that hides its controls is not sacred.

Thresholds. Bincombe’s vesica. Castley Hill’s hedge. Etchilhampton’s poppies clipping wheat. Ditcheat’s alignment of tree, structure and centre. Doors, not trophies.

XIII. The one program, and the charge

Heard as one program, the writes retire four survival habits. Forced unity: Wimborne’s centres do not coincide, and Castley Hill keeps two rooms. Piety without laughter: the joker sits by Stonehenge at the full moon. Capture: the poppy-field is not flown, the Tidcombe nest is not to be taken, the Ludwell moon is withdrawn. Solar administration of time: Roundway counts thirteen and leaves a moon unfinished, and Fox Hill offers a key that is not turned.

2025 is the scattered liturgy — offset, knot, door, restored ten, joker, spider, withdrawn moon — with Dorset carrying more than the downs usually allow. 2026 is the procession: cross on Holy Saturday, dumbbell between the holy hills, ϕ installed, a six revised, eyes at the solstice, a solid star beside a long barrow, rings at the dark moon, a knot at the smith’s door, a small three on Milk Hill, and at last a line of keys on Wanborough Plain.

For the planet, the address is the chalk temple. Monuments are used as hardware — barrows as memory, henges as ring-code, white horses as prior drawings, the smith’s door as the place a binding is paid for. The intergalactic character of the speech is not a fleet and not a named empire. It is a network that knows the old road and writes in the corn because the corn is brief, living, and seen from above. Biological light is the receiver. Standing in the lay, or holding the lay in attention, is the install.

The last authenticated line is an unturned key under a quarter moon. That is the charge to humanity. You have been shown the lock. The turning is yours, and it is not yet.
